Letter bomb explodes Kupat Holim in N.Y. post office doctors set to strike today

NEW YORK — An explosive device contained in a letter went off in a post office yesterday.

The clerk, Robert Figueroa, 26, taken to Fordham Hospital. The letter was found on his right hand when he got up, and most of the flesh on fingers on both hands was torn.

A nearby car park, where it was opened by explosives experts. It contained about 300 gms. of black powder and was fitted with a fuse, police said. But the device would have exploded only if the fuse had been impregnated with petrol and set on fire, they added.

"A very amateurish job," a police official commented.

In Brussels, State police maintained a 24-hour guard on Friday over drums of potassium cyanide in a dump near the town of Hannebeke after threats by the Black September organization, official sources said.

The source reported that a note, apparently from Black September, threatened to steal the chemical and pour it into drinking water supplies. It wanted the Belgian Government to pressure Israel into releasing Arab terrorists.

It was not known whether the note really originated from the Black September organization.

The poison, an industrial waste product, had been brought secretly into Belgium from West Germany and dumped. Authorities are investigating its origin and disposing of the deadly chemical by incineration.

In Copenhagen on Friday terrorists purporting to be Palestinians threatened to blow up a Copenhagen railway station unless they were paid the kroner equivalent of $55,000.

The Danish State Railways closed the Oesterport station and cancelled all trains running through it until shortly after noon, the time set for the explosion.

Police said the threat was made in a letter thrown into the backyard of the administrative headquarters of the State Railways. The letter was signed "P.L.O." and "P.F.L.P." — the initials of Palestinian terrorist organizations. The letter also said a bomb was placed in the administrative headquarters, a large building not far from the Oesterport station. About 300 persons left the building, and police found a fake bomb in a basement, a railway spokesman said. (Reuter, AP)

JERUSALEM POST REPORTER TEL AVIV — The 3,000 doctors of the Histadrut's Kupat Holim were set to begin a two-day strike this morning, barring a last-minute change of heart by them or the Kupat Holim Central Committee.

The doctors decided to strike in support of their demand that a physician be appointed director-general of Kupat Holim.

During the weekend, the doctors implied they were ready to call off the strike if Kupat Holim agreed to appoint a doctor as director-general with equal rights, side by side with the recently appointed director, Asher Yadlin. The Kupat Holim Central Committee, however, rejected the proposal, and called on the doctors to sit with them for talks.

After the strike the doctors are expected to employ another protest measure of working without the usual lunch break — which means they would finish in the early afternoon, and clinics will not have doctors during their afternoon hours.

Kupat Holim yesterday readied itself for the strike and requested that all members not seriously ill postpone their visits to the clinics. The clinics will remain open with a nursing staff available. In cases where a member needs urgent medical help and cannot obtain it at a clinic, he should go to the nearest private physician, and Kupat Holim will reimburse him according to its fixed-rate schedule.

Nixon admits obstacles remain Thieu calls ambassadors home

SARIGON — President Nguyen Van Thieu has recalled his ambassadors to Washington and Paris to instruct them on South Vietnam's response to the latest U.S.-North Vietnamese peace contacts. He has also ordered home South Vietnam's Ambassador to Britain.

In summoning the envoys home, Mr. Thieu appeared to demonstrate his concern about any decision reached on the political future of the Saigon Government in the four days of talks between President Nixon's special adviser, Dr. Henry Kissinger, and the North Vietnamese Politburo member, Le Duc Tho.

In Washington the White House on Friday broke silence over the Vietnam peace talks by acknowledging major obstacles still blocked a settlement of the war, despite the four days of secret talks in Paris.

Presidential spokesman Ronald Ziegler said after Mr. Nixon conferred with Dr. Henry Kissinger and other advisers he would not challenge a statement by Le Duc Tho that many difficulties had to be cleared away before significant progress could be made.

The North Vietnamese envoy, who left Paris on Friday after his secret meetings with Dr. Kissinger last week, was reported to have given his assessment to a group of diplomats before he took off for Hanoi.

Mr. Ziegler indicated that the private Paris talks had fallen far short of the point where Mr. Nixon could halt the bombing and blockade of North Vietnam before the U.S. presidential election, to be held on November 7.

SIXTH MEETING
The report of President Thieu's order was issued as he and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met for the sixth time in the past 13 days. Details of their 35-minute discussion were not made public.

The current series of talks between Mr. Bunker and Gen. Thieu began October 2, when the ambassador and Gen. Alexander Haig, an assistant to presidential adviser Henry Kissinger, met with Mr. Thieu in Saigon to discuss peace talks.

South Vietnamese government sources in Saigon said Gen. Thieu called the three ambassadors on Friday and told them to return to Saigon immediately for what the sources described as "consultation."

Official spokesmen had no comment on the order.

Yesterday Saigon's ambassador to the Vietnam peace conference flew home to brief President Thieu on current negotiations including the secret talks. Government sources said Gen. Thieu ordered the consultation.

The public peace plan offered by Gen. Thieu and Mr. Nixon calls for an immediate ceasefire, North Vietnam's return of all U.S. P-O-W's and negotiations to organize an internationally supervised election. President Thieu said he would resign one month before the election.

The Communist plan calls for Gen. Thieu to step down permanently and the U.S. to withdraw all troops from the war zone. After that, the Communists propose a ceasefire and establishment of a three-part coalition government including the Vietnam, neutralists and rightists.

In fighting yesterday South Vietnamese troops cleared Vietcong soldiers from two hamlets along Highway 13 north of Saigon, field reports said. But Communist troops on Friday cut Highway One near Xuan Loc, a province capital 61 km. east-northeast of Saigon, by mining a gutter, a military spokesman said. Traffic remained "suspended" yesterday, they said.

Military spokesmen also reported three clashes late Friday and early Saturday near Trang Bang, 48 km. northwest of Saigon. They said eight Communists were killed at a cost of four dead and one wounded.

In Cambodia three Soviet-made 122mm. rockets hit a Cambodian special forces camp and gutted a warehouse in a heavily industrialized area northwest of Phnom Penh. One Cambodian soldier was killed and 10 others were wounded. (Reuter, UPI)

Highest toll ever 170 feared dead in Soviet plane crash

MOSCOW (Reuter) — A Soviet Tupolev-42 airliner crashed near Moscow Airport on Friday night, killing all on board in what might be the worst disaster in civil aviation history.

Estimates of the dead ranged from 170 cited by Western airline sources to more than 100 given unofficially by Soviet sources. If the 170 figure is correct the crash will be the worst in history.

The previous biggest air-crash toll came in July 1971 when 162 died in a collision between an All-Nippon Airways Boeing 737 and a jet fighter.

Confusion over the final death toll stemmed from uncertainty as to the whereabouts of some 50 French tourists who were thought to have disembarked at Leningrad before the plane took off for Moscow.

The French Embassy here said it had been told by unofficial Soviet sources that one Frenchman had been aboard.

A spokesman for the Chilean Embassy here said Intourist, the state travel organization, told him officially that a Latin American group, including 39 Chileans, were killed. The party joined the plane at Leningrad.

And British Embassy sources said one unidentified Briton was among the dead.

After a morning of rumour and denial the Soviet news agency Tass, some 17 hours after the disaster, officially confirmed the crash of the airliner.

Western airline sources said the four-engine jet, which can seat 162 passengers, plunged to the ground near the village of Chorokya Gryas (Black Mud), about 35 kilometers north-west of Moscow.

It was the third catastrophe to hit the Soviet civil airline Aeroflot this year, with crashes at Kharkov and in the Crimea each unofficially reported to have claimed more than 100 victims.

It was also the second crash involving an Ilyushin-62. Last August 14 one flown by the East German airline Interflug crashed at least Berlin, killing 156.

Western reporters trying to reach the crash were turned back but were told that wreckage and limbless bodies were strewn over a wide area, making recovery a grim task.

According to Western airline sources the plane circled the airport at least once, and possibly twice, and was making a further run when it plunged to the ground.

Earlier rumours said the plane was on a holiday charter run from

3 KILLED AS RIVAL FATAH UNITS CLASH IN LEBANON

BEIRUT (Reuter) — Three men were killed and seven injured yesterday in fierce clashes between rival Fatah factions near the Lebanese border with Syria, reliable sources said last night.

The clashes took place in several areas of the Baka'a Plain, the sources said.

Mortars and automatic weapons were used in the fighting which was reported to have started in the area of Biader Al-Ads and spread to several villages.

Terrorist officials declined to comment on the reports but reliable sources said Fatah leaders had been in touch with Arab diplomats in an appeal for help to stop the fighting.

Lebanese security forces cut off the roads leading to several villages so that travellers might not come under fire which continued until about 5 p.m., they added.

A civilian car was reported to have been damaged by mortar fire and two of its occupants wounded.

Arab newsmen said the fighting was between a group led by Abu Zaim and another led by Abu Youssef, both ranking members of Fatah.

The immediate reason for the clash was not known, but the newsmen said that while Abu Zaim was a close follower of Yasser Arafat, Abu Youssef owed allegiance to Bader Hamdan, the Fatah commander in Lebanon.

TRANSFER LEADER
Last week local newspapers said Arafat decided to transfer Hamdan to Baghdad, and the decision was being opposed by Hamdan's followers "who constitute a considerable force."

Fatah later gave the movement's account of the incident and said it was far smaller in scale than portrayed by some Western news agencies. But it did not mention casualties.

The Palestine News Agency (Wafa) quoted an official Fatah source as saying a Fatah officer, dismissed by the movement's central committee for disciplinary violations, had stirred up some men of a Fatah unit. The Central Committee immediately ordered another unit to put an end to "this irresponsible conduct which threatened the discipline of the revolutionary forces."

The agency said the man — Abou Youssef al-Kayed — was an officer of a minor terrorist organization, the Action Organization for the Liberation of Palestine, before joining a Fatah military unit.

His conduct was marked by lack of discipline and he committed several irregularities which led the Fatah movement to expel him from membership, it said.

Demand quick end to disputes Ports Authority would ask Meir to step in

Jerusalem Post Staff
AIFA. — The Ports Authority will call for intervention by Premier Golda Meir if the Histadrut's secretary-general and the Transport Minister are unable to get a port workers' wage question settled "reasonably and quickly," the authority Board chairman Naftali Yehuda said here Friday.

Dr. Wydra pointed out there are precedents for such a step both President Nixon and Premier Heath of Britain had intervened to settle port disputes in their countries. (The Ports Authority of Thursday appointed a committee to meet with Histadrut secretary-general Yitzhak Ben-Zur and Transport Minister Simon Peres, to discuss labour relations in the ports, and to attempt to get wage negotiations under way as soon as possible.)

The Ports Authority Board chairman, who addressed the Haifa Engineers' Club, went on to criticize the Government, the Histadrut and the Manufacturers' Association, blaming them for the situation in the ports. The national wage agreement signed by them in the beginning of 1972, he said, provided for 15 per cent wage rises for the next two years — but the agreement was broken "almost before the ink was dry." Dr. Wydra said he did not know of any terms which failed to grant more than the 15 per cent in rises; by the national framework agreement, and many have granted much as 40 per cent.

"As a result of what happened in this agreement," he went on, "there are now no criteria for workers' demands, and works committees outdo each other with their demands." The ports alone have to contend with 29 separate works committees, he noted.

The high income tax and the 10 per cent tax on premium and incentive pay, Dr. Wydra explained, are part of the problem. The many demands for incentive pay, including use by administrative workers for overtime and premiums not to be measured, are merely a part to achieve lower tax rates. A work was being adapted to the automatic system, instead of the other way round, Dr. Wydra complained.

The management of Haifa Port, meanwhile, failed to react to the situation issued by the administrative works committees to provide incentive pay system by noon today. The committee, however, decided to postpone taking any further action, in the hope that further negotiations today will bring some results," a member of the committee told The Jerusalem Post.

At Ashdod Port, the Marine Department workers continued their strike-to-rule go-slow, refusing to provide services to ships staffed by foreign crews. They also decided not to pilot any ships in or out from 8 a.m. on Friday until this morning.

Their strike action was not backed by the Ashdod Labour Council. The bulk-cargo stevedores, who stopped their slow-down action last week, have threatened to renew it this week if their demand for an incentive pay system is not met.

WAGE PACT SIGNED IN DRUG INDUSTRY

The 1972/73 collective wage agreement for the pharmaceutical industry was signed on Friday between the Manufacturers' Association and the Histadrut Food Workers Union. The industry has 19 plants employing 2,400 workers, with 40 per cent of production earmarked for export.

The agreement accords day labourers the status of monthly salaried employees after eight years tenure. There is a "know-how wage scale" (based on a joint system drawn up after job analysis), with extra pay ranging from 2 to 39 per cent. Another increase is based on departmental seniority, amounting to 15-30 per cent of the wages.

Bid to avert strike at Bank Leumi

Jerusalem Post Reporter
TEL AVIV. — A bid to avert tomorrow's strike of over 4,000 Bank Leumi personnel will be made today. Bank Leumi general manager A. Yefet will meet with Histadrut Clerical Workers Union Chief Moshe Bartal to consider his staff's claims.

If they fail to iron out the dispute, there will also be a one-day sympathy strike at all branches of the Israel Discount Bank. The wages of its thousands of employees are linked to those of Bank Leumi, according to an agreement between the management and staff of the I.D.B.

Mr. Bartal told The Jerusalem Post last night that the Bank Leumi staff committee had already modified some of its demands and he hoped that a way out could be found.

Magnetic cards instead of tokens, but not now

Jerusalem Post Reporter
Reports of magnetic cards replacing tokens for use in public telephones are premature, the Communications Ministry spokesman said yesterday. The "Midday" programme on the radio last Wednesday said the change was imminent.

There are many technical problems to overcome and it will take years to develop such a system, he said.

He added, however, that magnetic cards which are already in use in several countries, would be more convenient and put an end to the theft of tokens.

Stewardesses' work contract called illegal by Knesset body

The Knesset Labour Committee declared on Friday that a number of clauses in the air stewardesses' work contract violate the country's women's labour laws.

The clauses, which the El Al stewardesses had complained about to the Committee, call for immediate dismissal of a stewardess who marries a steward or who marries at all within four years of receiving tenure, for immediate maternity leave for pregnant stewardesses, and for firing stewardesses as soon as they give birth.

The Committee, chaired by Mrs. Shoshana Arbell-Almozulino, also heard representatives of the El Al stewardesses complain of a number of other instances of alleged discrimination. These include automatic firing after age 35 or after 10 years of employment, and reservation of the job of air purser for stewardesses (male) alone.

Representatives of the stewardesses' organization told the meeting they favoured giving the stewardesses all the benefits legally coming to them. Histadrut acting trades union chief Yehoshua Woschina said there were indeed some odd clauses in the contract, but told the committee that El Al had promised not to invoke the clauses until a current labour court case involving the complaint of a stewardess against El Al is settled. Mr. Woschina added that the Histadrut would see to it that the whole approach to stewardesses was revised in the new work contract.

The committee is to hear El Al representatives on the subject at its next session.

Fishermen now ship shrimp to Europe

Jerusalem Post Reporter
HAIFA. — The Fishermen's Union shipped 15 tons of shrimp, worth $50,000, to Italy during the month of September. The Union secretary told The Post that the new export commodity, deep frozen shrimp, was sent by ship at $3.50 a kg.

He said the fishermen, who have decided to go into shrimping for Europe on a commercial scale, caught a total of over 20 tons in September. Another three or four tons were afloat, fresh, to Paris by a private exporter, at $4.50 a kg. The rest were sold locally, mainly to expensive restaurants, at IL17 per kg.

The shrimps are caught off El Arish and some off Ashdod. The men expect to catch another 20 tons this month, with special trawler nets.

Thanks to the good export prices, they have been able to get better prices in Israel too. The fishermen intend to keep the prices high by concentrating on exports, they said.

Gaza ordered to absorb Shati camp

By HERBERT BEN-ADI
Jerusalem Post Reporter
GAZA. — The Gaza Municipality, which has been ignoring a Military Government request to annex the neighbouring Shati refugee camp, was ordered last night by Military Governor Tat-Aluf Yitzhak Pundak to start providing the camp with municipal services.

Gaza has been the only holdout among the Strip towns ordered at the beginning of September to incorporate within their boundaries the refugee camps in their vicinities. Shati residents had recently asked the Military Government to get the Municipality to provide them with services.

Explaining his refusal to obey the September order, Gaza Mayor Rashid Shawa told The Jerusalem Post earlier in the month that he objected to inclusion of Shati in Gaza for "political reasons." Mayor Shawa said he realized that lack of proper services was contributing to the refugees' low standard of living, but declared that the moment the Shati refugees become Gazans they would cease to be refugees.

"They must remain refugees in order to remind the world that the Palestine problem is still unsolved," he said.

NO STATUS CHANGE

However, last night's Military Government order specifically states that the inclusion of Shati means no change in the refugee's legal status and does not deprive them of Urwa services. Aside from Shati, all but three of the Strip's refugee camps have been peacefully absorbed into their adjacent towns since the September order. The three left out (for technical reasons) — El-Burei, Mir'at and Nusirat — are to be made independent municipalities.

Gaza similarly ignored a 1966 Egyptian order to incorporate the camp. If the annexation goes through now, another 39,000 inhabitants will be added to Gaza's present 120,000.

Deputy Mayor Salah Shawa told The Post last night that the Municipality Council, including Mayor Shawa, would meet this morning with Tat-Aluf Pundak to decide what to do about the order to annex the refugee camp.

Police pick up woman pickpocket

TEL AVIV. — Police say they caught a veteran woman pickpocket at work on a Tel Aviv bus queue on Thursday night.

The woman, identified only as a 43-year-old Ramat Hasharon resident, was spotted standing in the line for the number 33 bus on Alenby Road. As she deftly relieved the woman in front of her of her purse, the police closed in and made the arrest. The purse, containing IL46, was returned to its owner on the spot. (Him)

'Sabotage abroad creates challenge' Gazit: Open bridges not exploited by terrorists

TEL AVIV. — Tat-Aluf (Brigadier-General) Shlomo Gazit, coordinator of activities in the occupied territories, said yesterday the open-bridges policy had not been exploited to further Arab terrorist activities in the territories.

In an interview on Israel Radio T/A, Gazit said that the more than 150,000 Arab summer visitors who had crossed the Jordan River bridges this year had not brought with them any great increase in terrorist activity—but he admitted there have been "quieter periods than the last four months."

Several suspects had been arrested, but mainly in connection with attempts to re-establish contacts or set up new cells of terror organizations, and none for active sabotage operations, he said. No arms or ammunition were smuggled in over the bridges, he added.

While noting that the Summer Visits Scheme and open-bridges policy in general were a factor, he attributed minor acts of sabotage by local terrorists to the influence exerted by the spectacular acts of terrorism perpetrated in Europe.

Jordanian gets court order on bid to remain in Jenin area

An Arab woman whose Jordanian husband died while they were on a summer visit in the West Bank won a High Court order on Friday ordering the Minister of Defence to show cause why she and her six children should not be allowed to stay in the area.

The Minister was ordered not to force the woman to leave until a ruling is given on her petition to remain. Her summer-visit permit expires today.

The woman, Kamil Mustafa, 32, whose children range in age from one year to 11 years, said that, since her husband's death in hospital here following an illness, she had no relatives in Amman, where they had lived for 12 years.

She said she was born in Kafr Ra'i near Jenin, where her father and brothers live, and she wanted to remain with them. (Him)

'Panthers would run for Knesset'

Jerusalem Post Reporter
TEL AVIV. — Mrs. Shulamit Aloni, a former Member of Knesset, intimated on Friday that the Black Panthers are contemplating forming a party and running for the Eighth Knesset — "if they have enough money."

She told the Engineers Club here she believed the Panther leadership consisted of "nice, intelligent young men" who did not want the patronage of "good-hearted North Tel Aviv matrons." Mrs. Aloni, who has acquired the reputation of a rebel in the Labour Party, was speaking to the luncheon club on the topic of new political organization arising out of social unrest.

New name sought for I.A.I.'s new executive jet

The Israel Aircraft Industries is seeking another name for its executive-type plane, the 11-23, hitherto known as the Commodore Jet.

The company's decision, made in conjunction with Atlantic Aviation, the I.A.I.'s sole distributor in North America, follows the advice of American specialists. They suggested that the 11-23 should be presented to the market as a completely new plane, following the alterations on the original model made by the company at its L-4 plant. This involved a total of 170 improvements and modifications.

Atlantic Aviation has already opened a publicity campaign in the American and Canadian press inviting suggestions for a new name. The winner will receive use of the new 10-seater plane over a three-day weekend or, alternatively, a cash prize of $5,000.

ROWDY INJURES CINEMA USHER

TEL AVIV. — Local police are looking for a young man who assaulted an usher with a broken bottle during a cinema performance in Bat Yam last Tuesday night.

The usher had remonstrated with a group of young rowdies who had placed their feet on the backs of the seats in front of them and disturbed others in the audience.

When they ignored him, the usher ordered one of the youths to leave the hall. Instead, the youth smashed a bottle and attacked the usher, cutting his hand.

The assailant fled, but police arrested one of his companions. The police, who know the assailant's identity, say they expect to make an arrest shortly. (Him)

Held for five years China frees, deports two British brothers

HONGKONG (AP). — Two British brothers detained during the Chinese Cultural Revolution five years ago arrived here yesterday after being deported from China. Their arrival came as a surprise to Hongkong officials who did not even know of their arrest.

The brothers, Percy and Frederick Farmer, crossed the Lowry Bridge into Hongkong wearing Chinese-style clothing and peaked caps and carrying bundles of possessions. They had lived in China all their lives, although their father was British.

Frederick, 45, disclosed he has a wife and five children aged between 18 and eight still in China. He has heard nothing of them since his arrest. The brothers said their sister Dorothy is also still in China and they have no relatives in Britain.

The two had been truck owners-drivers before their detention. The brothers said they were tried last Tuesday, more than five years after their arrest, for offences against Chinese law and sentenced to seven years' imprisonment.

Their case was reviewed, they said, and two days ago they were told they would be deported.

Hongkong officials took the two to a private home where they are resting. Doctors are to examine them and they are not expected to see the press for several days.

Students at Stirling University in Scotland yesterday apologized to Queen Elizabeth for the drunken demonstration youths staged against her when she visited the campus on Thursday. Beer and wine-drinking students shouted obscenities, made rude gestures, set off a stink bomb and surged in on the Queen and her entourage, nearly causing her to fall down a flight of stairs. Above, the Queen is shown smiling as a student contemptuously drinks from a bottle of wine while she passes. (AP radiophoto)

Israel signs trade deal with U.S.

WASHINGTON (Reuter). — The U.S. and Israel signed a $2.5-billion agreement on Friday providing for the sale of American feed grains, wheat, vegetable oil and tobacco.

It was the 19th such agreement between Israel and the U.S. and the largest so far.

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco, who signed for the U.S., called it a milestone and said he could think of no better example of the constancy and strength of U.S. relations with Israel.

Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin said, after signing the agreement, that Israeli purchases from the U.S. had risen from $130m. in 1955 to 700m. in 1971. Nothing that it was the largest money agreement signed, he commented that this might be due to rises in prices rather than increased quantities.

Hongkong store blast kills 3, injures 280

HONGKONG (UPI). — Three persons were killed and 280 injured yesterday when an explosion rocked Hongkong's largest Japanese department store, police said.

The explosion, triggered by a gas leak, blasted the mezzanine floor of the Daimaru Department Store on the island as a weekend crowd of several hundred people shopped in the store.

"It was a major and extremely violent explosion," a fire services spokesman said. "It happened when some firemen were checking the building after there were reports of a strong coal gas smell."

Reporters who went to the scene saw pools of blood covering the floor of the main entrance. The force of the explosion destroyed a 15 cm. thick wall next to the gas pipe and a staircase was partially damaged.

Most of the injured were outside the store and were hurt by flying glass from the shattered windows on lower floors. Windshields of a number of taxis and other vehicles nearby were shattered.

One of the dead was a fireman. Seventy-six persons, including 12 firemen and two policemen, were admitted to hospitals while 203 others were treated and discharged, a police spokesman said.

'Important' Sadat speech tonight

Jerusalem Post Arab Affairs Reporter Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is expected to outline his country's future course of action this evening in an "important" speech to the Egyptian National Assembly (parliament).

In a speech he delivered to the Federal joint parliament of Egypt, Syria and Libya, on Thursday night, Sadat indicated he was toughening his position, and said he was now prepared to go to war against Israel. This contradicted a statement he made two weeks ago to a Beirut magazine, "Al-Ahwasith," when he complained that he was still unable to confront Israel because the Soviets would not give him offensive weapons.

Earlier it was thought only three Britons were still being held in China. They are Elsie Epstein, Michael Shapiro and David Crook, all in their sixties. They were all translators at Peking's Foreign Language Press.

Lebanon's leftist leader, Kamal Jumblatt, who is in Cairo following a visit to the Soviet Union, said over the weekend that Egypt must now either renew the war of attrition or consolidate the terrorist effort against Israel. Jumblatt, who reportedly had a major role in mediating between Moscow and Cairo, said that the Soviet Union would supply further weapons to Egypt.

Egyptian Premier Aziz Sidki is scheduled to go to Moscow tomorrow to lay the groundwork for a reconciliation between his country and the Soviet Union. Sidki's visit is planned to last three days.

More P-o-W's shot in India

NEW DELHI (AP). — Indian sentries fired on rebellious Pakistani prisoners of war on Friday, killing six, in the second such incident in 10 days, the Defence Ministry said.

Pakistan has lodged a strong protest with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim over the shooting.

An Indian Defence Ministry spokesman said the sentries "opened fire in self-defence and in order to control the situation." He said P-o-W's had wrested a rifle from a sentry and shot him, spurring a general outbreak of violence among the prisoners.

The sentry was wounded, and there were no other Indian casualties reported, the spokesman said.

Allende offers concessions to striking truck drivers

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI). — President Salvador Allende offered a series of concessions yesterday to striking truck drivers in efforts to end a walkout that has crippled delivery of vital products across the nation.

Allende said he will free more than 400 jailed drivers and return 350 trucks seized by the government if the strikers return to work. Otherwise, Allende said, he will never authorize the return of the trucks to their owners. "This is not a threat, it is a decision," he said in a nationally broadcast midnight speech.

The Socialist President also warned the government will bring legal action against shops that fail to open. Thousands of retail establishments closed on Friday to support the strikers.

"These seditious groups will be punished," Allende said. "We are going to overcome this crisis and any others that may follow."

The truckers stopped work at midnight on Wednesday to protest the Government's plans to create a federal trucking authority.

Troops accompanied nonstriking truckers who delivered gasoline. Many filling stations closed for lack of fuel. Gasoline was rationed at operating stations, five gallons to a customer.

Normally bustling downtown Santiago was deserted Friday. Department stores rolled metal gates over the windows and closed for the day.

The Government maintained control of radio broadcasts in Santiago, and 12 other provinces declared an emergency as a result of the truckers' walkout.

Allende said the retail strike was complete in Santiago's elegant "Barrio Alto" district, stronghold of opposition to this Government.

Residents of that neighbourhood, he said, "are going to pay the consequences. They are going to learn their lesson."

Belfast assassination toll grows

BELFAST (UPI). — Police found the body of a man shot in the head yesterday, the latest victim in the wave of 68 assassinations since July.

Since the British Army moved into Northern Ireland in August, 1969, in an effort to keep the peace, 602 people have died.

A police spokesman said officers found the body of a man of about 20 in the Castlereagh Road area of East Belfast, the scene of Protestant rioting for two nights earlier last week.

"This looks like another of the assassination killings," the spokesman said.

The string of assassinations are the latest phase in the three-cornered struggle between the Irish Republican Army (I.R.A.), militant factions of the province's Protestant majority and British troops.

The I.R.A. has said some of the killings are executions of "British agents." Police and military sources say others may be the result of feuding within the I.R.A. or within Protestant groups.

Many of the victims have been found with hoods over their faces, and some have been tortured before being killed.

In Londonderry three youths carrying a revolver and a knife held up a bus, robbed the passengers and held the driver captive for three hours before releasing him.

"They had taken the car they used in the robbery from a courting couple, after first removing the man's trousers and the woman's skirt and leaving them to walk home."

The I.R.A.'s militant Provisional wing yesterday expanded its campaign against British troops, saying it would bomb hotels and other establishments which cater to soldiers.

A statement by the Provisionals said they bombed two hotels in Belfast, 40 km. southwest of Belfast, in week because troops were using them as social centres.

"Any other premises found to be used in a similar manner will also be targets for attack," the Provisionals said.

Shooting in Yemen despite cease-fire

ADEN (Reuter). — The two Yemenis have agreed to a cease-fire and to withdraw their forces 10 kms. inside their borders, an Arab League mediating mission announced on Friday. Yesterday, however, the North Yemeni Government told the Arab League that its border positions were still being shelled by Southern Yemeni troops, the Middle East News Agency reported in Cairo.

The Arab League mission has been working to end the border clashes between the Peoples Democratic Republic of Yemen (South) and the Yemen Arab Republic (North) which flared up on September 26.

It returned here on Thursday after a five-day visit to North Yemen and was understood to have presented its peace proposals to a South Yemeni ministerial committee Thursday night.

The mission said in its statement:

- Return of South Yemenis to their homes from exile.
- Finding a full settlement acceptable to relatives of North Yemeni tribesmen who, according to Sana'a, were killed by the Aden Government.
- Compensation for North Yemenis whose property in South Yemen has been nationalized.
- Settlement of disputed territory.
- Withdrawal of military concentrations and reopening of borders.

Salisbury, Lisbon move on guerrillas

LISBON (UPI). — Portugal and Rhodesia have agreed to close ranks in the face of increased guerrilla activity in Southern Africa by the African freedom movements, officials of both countries said yesterday.

The agreement followed a one-hour summit meeting on Friday between Portuguese Prime Minister Marcello Caetano and Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith.

Diplomatic sources said the agreement was informal and the two countries had no plans to make a formal alliance.

Narcotics agent, suspects killed in N.Y. shootout

NEW YORK — A federal narcotics agent and two suspected drug dealers were shot dead here late Thursday night, as agents attempted to collect evidence by buying cocaine from the alleged pushers, a narcotics agent said on Friday.

A second agent was taken to hospital in critical condition after the gun fight on the 10th floor of the Sheraton Motor Inn near Times Square. He was shot in the neck and leg.

Dutch princess has boy and girl

NILMURGEN, Holland (Reuter). — Princess Irene, daughter of Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, gave birth to twins — a boy and a girl — here on Friday.

Princess Irene is married to Prince Carlos Hugo of Bourbon-Parma, Carlist pretender to the Spanish throne, whom she married in the spring of 1964. The couple also had a son born in 1970.

Muskie may sue Nixon group for political sabotage

WASHINGTON (AP). — Senator Edmund Muskie said last week he is exploring the possibility of suing President Nixon's re-election committee and White House aides for violating his civil rights through political espionage and sabotage.

The Muskie staff has prepared a memorandum listing 10 or so events which they said lead them to suspect the presence of such espionage directed at the Maine Senator during his unsuccessful campaign for the Democratic Party U.S. presidential nomination.

"I have had no time to consider this in any active sense," Muskie said in an interview. "In so far as my personal feelings are concerned I don't think I'd be interested in pursuing such a course."

"But in so far as the importance of raising this issue for public consideration — an effort to somewhat purify the political process — it might be useful to do it."

The staff memorandum detailed examples alleging stolen campaign documents, stolen Muskie polls, the use of forged Muskie envelopes to drive a wedge between Muskie and Senator Edward Kennedy, harassing and false telephone calls and a smear campaign aimed at two of Muskie's opponents which were falsely attributed to him.

One of these alleged incidents, the memo said, involved a series of midnight long-distance telephone calls from persons who said they were blacks and members of Muskie's Harlem Campaign Organization urging New Hampshire voters to support the Senator in that state's primary "because he'd be so good for the black man."

John McEvoy, a Muskie aide, in his memo quoted Roy Podesta, the Muskie campaign manager in New Hampshire, as describing "a massive telephone campaign" by some unknown organization.

"In addition to these Harlem calls, several hundred other New Hampshire residents from all over the state complained of post-midnight calls from alleged Muskie people who would sometimes call three or four times in rapid succession to ask them how they were going to vote," the memo said.

Suing the Republicans is a question at this point, Muskie said, but added that a close reading of U.S. civil rights laws indicates his own civil rights and those of his supporters may indeed have been involved.

Asked if he was leaving the door open for a suit, Muskie replied: "Well, I'm not closing it."

Spiegel wants to follow Spiegler abroad

TEL AVIV — Giora Spiegel, the 28-year-old Tel Aviv Maccabi and Israel international footballer, has decided to try his luck playing abroad. He wants to follow in the steps of his friend, Mordechai Spiegler, now playing for Paris F.C.

Spiegel, currently rated Israel's most outstanding player, did not appear for his club's game against Tel Aviv Hapoel yesterday. He will be obliged to abstain from football for one year before he can join a foreign club. This is according to the rules laid down by the Israel Football Association.

London's Harrow defeats local cricketers

By JACK LEON
Jerusalem Post Sports Reporter
ASHDOD — London's Harrow cricket club yesterday opened their seven-match tour of Israel with a dramatic two-wicket victory here over a local "Coastal XI" in the next-to-last over of the game. The final score was Coastal 149, Harrow 150 for 8.

Going in first under the captaincy of Baron, the hosts' top scorer was No. 3 batsman Barnett, who — in spite of a leg injury necessitating the use of a runner — hit an invaluable 47. He reached the boundary half a dozen times with some superb hooks and pulls, and also cracked one six. Opener Wiseman contributed a polished 28; but of the others, only Mohnblatt (18) and Joseph (10) reached double figures.

WORLD SERIES

Oakland wins first game 3:2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Gene Tenace, the hitting hero of Oakland's final game victory over Detroit in the American League playoffs, drove in three runs with two home runs yesterday, leading the A's to a 3-2 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds in the opening game of the World Series.

Tenace homered off loser Gary Nolan in the second inning, following a two-out walk to George Hendrick, and connected again off Nolan in the fifth, breaking a 2-2 tie.

The Reds scored a run off winner Ken Holtzman in the bottom of the second on singles by Johnny Bench and Tony Perez, a walk to Denis Menke and Dave Concepcion's grounder. They tied the score in the fourth on a walk to Bench, a single by Perez and a run-producing grounder by Menke.

Holtzman was replaced by Rollie Fingers after surrendering a lead-off double to Bench in the sixth. Vida Blue finished for Oakland, relieving Fingers with two out and one on in the seventh.

Arsenal close gap Liverpool drop valuable point

LONDON (Reuter) — Liverpool, held to a one-one draw by Southampton yesterday, had their lead at the top of the English Football League cut to a single point as second-placed Arsenal beat Ipswich Town 1-0.

Liverpool looked set to maintain their two-point advantage when defender Chris Lawler shot them into the lead five minutes before half-time, but Mike Channon equalized for Southampton in the second half.

Arsenal took both points by way of George Graham's 53rd minute goal — a 30-yard shot which gave Ipswich goalkeeper David Best no chance.

Leeds United jumped into third place a point behind Arsenal with a fine 2-1 away victory against Everton, the early season pacemakers. Mick Jones and Joe Jordan put Leeds two up before Alan Whittle pulled back a goal for Everton.

With Tottenham Hotspur losing and Wolverhampton Wanderers held to a draw, Chelsea took their chance to zip into fourth place with an emphatic 3-1 victory over West Bromwich Albion.

TOTTENHAM SLIPS

Tottenham slipped from third to fifth place after their 2-1 defeat by newly promoted Norwich City. David Cross put Norwich ahead after three minutes, but England striker Martin Chivers ended his goal famine by equalling after 31 minutes.

In the second half, however, Cross struck again to give City both points.

Crystal Palace, who have spent more than £300,000 on new players in the past few weeks, shocked Wolverhampton Wanderers by taking the lead after 15 minutes with a goal by Martin Hineswood, his first in league football and the first by a Palace player in their last nine matches.

Wolves hit back to equalize through Derek Dougan, but still conceded their first home point of the season in a one-one draw.

Ted Macdonald scored his first goal for Manchester United since being signed from Bournemouth for £200,000 and his 15th-minute header was enough to beat Birmingham City 1-0.

Victory took United off the bottom of the first Division, a place now occupied by Crystal Palace —

one of five teams with only nine points to their credit. Among clubs languishing on the nine-point mark are Manchester City, who lost 3-2 to Coventry City. Colin Stein, Coventry's £140,000 signing from Glasgow Rangers, scored his first goal for his new club.

Bryan Robson scored twice as West Ham United improved their position with a 3-1 victory over Sheffield United while league champions Derby County moved away from the first division basement with a 2-1 victory over Leicester City. Alan Hinton (penalty) and Terry Hennessey were the Derby scorers.

Division One Results

Arsenal 1, Ipswich 0; Chelsea 3, West Brom 1; Coventry 3, Manchester City 2; Derby 2, Leicester 1; Everton 1, Leeds 2; Manchester United 1, Birmingham 0; Norwich 2, Tottenham 1; Southampton 1, Liverpool 1; Stoke 2, Newcastle 0; West Ham 3, Sheffield United 1; Wolverhampton 1, Crystal Palace 1.

U.S. smashes Rumania in Davis Cup doubles

BUCHAREST (Reuter) — The United States took a giant step towards winning the Davis Cup when Stan Smith and Erik Van Dillen crushed Rumania's Nic Nastase and Ion Tiriac in the doubles clash of the final here yesterday.

Victory gave the Americans a 2-1 lead in the final, and barring a big upset of form they are now set to take the cup.

Smith and Van Dillen played superlative power tennis, completely upsetting the Rumanians to win 6-2, 6-0, 6-3. They raced to victory in about 70 minutes, virtually crushing Rumanian hopes of defeating the United States for the first time in three meetings between the countries in the final.

The Rumanian spectators displayed much more control than during Friday's turbulent singles, in which Tiriac beat Tom Gorman of the United States to level at 1-1 for Rumania.

In one fit of pique yesterday, Nastase threw a ball at Smith, who had complained to the referee that one of the Rumanian's shots was out.

In the second set the Americans really piled on the pressure, racing to a 6-0 victory in just 20 minutes. The Rumanians wilted badly under the pressure, despite morale-boosting rhythmic chants and clapping from the home crowd.

The American pair concentrated their play on Nastase, who was a shadow of his old self and was making elementary errors of judgement. It was as if Friday's unruly court scenes had taken heavy toll of the temperamental army lieutenant.

Both pairs started the match ner-

France edges Soviets 1-0 in soccer

PARIS (Reuter) — France snatched a surprise 1-0 victory over the Soviet Union in the opening Group Nine World Soccer Cup qualifying match at the Parc des Princes Stadium here, on Friday.

The French team, which will play the return leg in Moscow in May after two matches against the other Group Nine team, the Irish Republic, played more aggressive football throughout the game and deserved their victory over a pedestrian Soviet team.

After a first half in which neither side's attack looked convincing, France scored the only goal of the match, when after a free kick the ball went across to left-winger Georges Bereta who hammered home a 25-metre shot into the corner of the net.

Jerusalem Post Reporter
TEL AVIV. —

WANDERING blood clots (thromboembolism) all too often begin before the patient is even wheeled into the operating room, Dr. William Meade, of Lansing, Michigan, said during a round-table discussion last week, on the prevention of such clots which often cause grave complications, sometimes leading to death. This round table discussion took place at the Fair grounds on Wednesday and was part of the 12th International Congress of Orthopaedic Surgery and Traumatology.

Most of those taking part reported using drugs such as Heparin or low molecular weight Dextran which was introduced into the blood to prevent clotting. But Dr. Meade said much of this clotting — but of all — could be prevented.

"While the patient is waiting for the operation he is shot so full of rugs that it is doubtful if he needs an anaesthetic to face the operation. And most of these drugs decrease breathing, decrease the volume of his blood, and dilate his blood vessels, which contribute towards clotting. Moreover, the patient is immobilized and made to lie down and this further slows down his blood circulation."

Dr. Meade advised taking several tactical steps to "manage thromboembolism" before surgery, such as asking the patient change his position every 30 or 40 minutes, and sitting his legs higher than his body.

As for the use of low molecular weight Dextran as an anti-coagulant, Dr. J.A. Lynch, of the Topeka Medical Centre in the U.S., reported that in a test group of 141 patients using the Dextran, there were only 10 cases of pulmonary clots, both in-fatal, while in a control group of 156 patients, 14 had pulmonary clots, three of them being fatal.

Much of the discussions was devoted to the "exchange" of parts of the human body — such as the hip bone and the elbow — by metallic or plastic parts. The various advantages of a combination are discussed, but the consensus seemed to be that "metal on metal" does not give the best long term suits, although plastic seemed to give better short term benefits, still continuing.

Diet pills clinically trivial

WASHINGTON (AP). — U.S. Government health panel of consultants has concluded that diet pills are of "clinically trivial" value in weight loss and, with one exception, should be tightly controlled.

The recommendation, if accepted by regulatory agencies, would permanently curtail the profitable, multi-million-dollar anti-fat business by prohibiting refillable prescriptions and imposing manufacturing quotas in the United States.

From the mountains of data, the consultants said diet pills in general use the loss of only a fraction of a pound per week in short-term trials.

The total impact of drug-induced weight loss over that of diet alone must be considered clinically trivial, they said, especially in light of the high potential for abuse of diet drugs.

The lone exception to the panel's findings was Fenfluramine, patented by Pondimin by A.H. Robbins Co.

Cigarettes and lung cancer — in rats

By Frank Caszy
WASHINGTON (AP). —

NATIONAL Cancer Institute scientists said last week they have been able to cause lung cancer in rats by exposing them to the tar products from five cigarettes.

But the scientists also said "the development of lung cancer (in humans) requires long-term exposure to cigarette-smoke products."

The NCI scientists said they have developed a new testing method wherein cigarette tar is injected into the animals' lungs and released gradually. They said it marked the first time they have induced "the same kind of lung cancer that occurs most commonly in humans."

The Tobacco Institute, which has always challenged findings that there is a cause-and-effect relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer, immediately criticized the NCI statement.

NOT CONCLUSIVE

"We've had reports over the years of various kinds of tumours produced by the application of cigarette condensate in ways that appear not to be conclusive, and there seems to be no obvious human implication in this report," a Tobacco Institute spokesman said.

But he added: "This would be a useful contribution to the search for appropriate methods of determining the causes of lung ailments."

The NCI report said 348 rats had cigarette-tar injected into their lungs.

"Of these, 156 rats died during the first two years of various causes, 50 during the first year and 106 during the second," the report said.

"Of the 106 rats that died during the second year, 31 had the same form of lung cancer-spidermold carcinoma — that occurs among humans."

PRE-CANCEROUS CHANGE

"In sum," the announcement said, "75 per cent of the rats that died during the first two years had lung cancer or precancerous changes in their lungs."

In contrast, the report added, of 143 rats treated with a beeswax material without the tars or with unsmoked tobacco or cigarette ashes, only two showed signs of precancerous change.

"It was possible," the report said, "to cause lung cancer in rats by exposing them to the (cigarette-tar) product of only five cigarettes."

The NCI added that more than half the original 348 tar-exposed rats "are still alive after two years and the condition of their lungs is not yet known."

The experiments were performed by a research team headed by Dr.

Florence ready-to-wear: return to elegance predicted

By Brenda W. Entzell
U.P.I. Fashion Writer

FLORENCE. —

ITALIAN designers are shrugging their way through the summer 1973 ready-to-wear shows with lots of little jackets to wear over crisp cotton print dresses. The four-day shows open today at the Pitti Palace.

"There is a return to feminine, chic clothes," Amilto Pucci said, visibly pleased with that trend.

"Elegance is rapidly replacing the drab, cluttered look from hippie collections, which are a thing of the past."

Print master Pucci favours brown and black, and all shades of light colours, for a collection featuring some knee length skirts and some several centimetres above the knee.

The now look is solid colours combined with prints, like Frank Martieri's coats and suits of double-faced wool in rich blue or green, accented with print blouses and scarves.

Martieri likes a "total look." He balks at hats, but insists on gloves in pink, green or blue to match his three favourite colours, and puts touches of print fabric on matching shoes with — high — awkwardly high heels.

SMOKING BACK

The puckery, elasticized look of smoking is back in style. La Mendola uses it to make the waist and ribcage seem slimmer. Short, puffy sleeves, long, smocked torsos, skirts cut in points and dirndl skirts are big at this American House, where the news is border prints in floral designs.

La Mendola partner Jack Savage said they smocked waists of dirndl-style chiffon evening skirts were inspired by a weight-watching Italian client. "I'm eating lots of spaghetti," she said. "Don't you have something that moves in and out with my waist?"

Women in space

VIENNA (AP). —

DR. Charles A. Berry, space physician of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), recommended last Wednesday that sex for astronauts may be contemplated for long-term cosmic flights but he ruled out the possibility of sending married couples into space.

Dr. Berry was pressed by newsmen covering the 23rd International Astronautical Congress to elaborate on a previous statement on the topic.

Berry said, "As a rule, it will not be possible for astronauts to take along their own wives, since women sent into space require professional training — as astronauts or scientists."

The longest space flight envisaged in the near future will be 56 days, Berry explained, and not until longer-term spaceflights are launched would the problem have to be examined in detail.

Berry suggested that legal and moral problems arising from prolonged stay in space of mixed crews could not be appraised as yet.

Will carry Mid-East oil World's biggest ship launched in Japan

URE, Japan (Reuter). — The world's largest ship, the 477,000-ton deadweight tanker Globtik Tokyo, was launched here yesterday — followed by a prediction that it would soon be dwarfed. The ship is one of two of the same tonnage ordered from Japan's Kashimiri shipping magnate T. T. Koo to carry 180 million tons of crude oil per voyage on the Middle East to Japanese shores. It will go into service next February, when it is chartered by a Japanese firm from Mr. T. Koo's London-based Globtik tanker company.

Its length is the height of New York's Empire State Building. With computerized techniques, I.T.I. completed the basic construction in 190 days. Because of its size the ship could not move down a launching slipway in the traditional fashion. Instead sea water began to gush into the huge dry dock.

Chase Manhattan Bank of N.Y. has new president

NEW YORK (Reuter). — The Chase Manhattan Bank has changed its top management, its chairman, David Rockefeller, has announced. He said Herbert Patterson has resigned as president and is replaced by Willard C. Butcher, 45, has been vice-chairman in charge of forward planning. Mr. Patterson, 47, has been president — the Number Two post to the chairman — for more than three years. Mr. Rockefeller, who remains chief executive as well as chairman, announcing the switch Friday, told newsmen that the bank's earnings for the third quarter of the year were about 10 per cent down on the same quarter of 1971.

Chase Manhattan, a $27,000-million institution, was New York's largest bank until First National City Bank took over it several years ago. More recently the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company has superseded it as top "correspondent" bank — in other words, a bank for other banks.

Progress in U.S.-Soviet trade talks

WASHINGTON (AP). — Soviet Trade Minister Nikolai Patolichev has arrived in the U.S. for a continuation of U.S.-Soviet trade talks. The U.S. Commerce Department said Patolichev arrived last week and would participate in meetings of a joint U.S.-Soviet commercial commission working out a trade agreement between the two countries. Commerce Secretary Peter Peterson said that working groups of the joint commission have been engaged for two weeks in intensive negotiations on an agreement. "We are continuing to make significant progress and the negotiations are at the stage where it seemed appropriate to move the deliberations to the commission level," he said. Mr. Peterson said the issues to be discussed included settlement of the lend-lease debt with the Soviet Union; credits to expand trade; relaxing tariff barriers; joint economic projects; licensing, patents, copyrights and taxation.

Iran, Russia sign cooperation pact

MOSCOW (UPI). — Iran and the Soviet Union signed an agreement on Thursday on the development of their economic and technical cooperation over the next 15 years. At the same time, Foreign Ministers Andrei Gromyko and Abbas Ali Khalatbari put their signatures to a plan for cultural exchanges through 1976. Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny and the Shah, together with Queen Farah, watched the ceremony.

J.S. MARKET DOES NOT END AT N.Y.

ISRAELI businessmen exporting to the U.S. are getting to know their stuff. But they still must learn an important lesson — that the American market does not end in New York City. The view of Otto Braun, president of the California-Israel Chamber of Commerce, and on his eighth trip to Israel, does not include among these first trips, made in 1925 when, a young Zionist, he travelled Palestine from his native Vienna. He remained here for 10 months. Later wrote (in German) "The Iron of a People," a study of the two under Mandatory rule. Mr. Braun eventually emigrated to America, but continued devotedly for Israel. As an active manufacturer of fashion jewellery, he led the California-Israel Chamber of Commerce (in 1956) and was influential in setting up the visa Israel trade "week" in his state all through the years. Although precise figures for ultimate destination of Israel exports to America are not available, Mr.

Political future of 'Areas' in economic perspective

By MOSHE ATER
Jerusalem Post Economic Editor

SEVERAL announcements have been made recently concerning the political future of the administered territories. A study of the relevant economic trends provides a proper background for them. Perhaps most significant are the employment figures. In the past few years the territories' labour force increased by 2.5 per cent per year, (which is incidentally a smaller rate than in Israel) while the number of persons employed increased by over 4 per cent. As a result, the number of unemployed in Samaria and Judea dropped from 4 per cent of the labour force in 1969 to about 1.5 per cent, and in the Gaza Strip from 9 per cent to 2.5.

A characteristic effect of the virtual elimination of unemployment has been a decline in the number of female wage-earners. The above increase in employment was confined to male workers. The number of women employed dropped 10 per cent in the Gaza Strip, and 15 per cent in Samaria and Judea compared with a year ago. In view of the continuing brisk demand for labour this drop is the best sign that people can now afford to keep their workmoms away from outside work, in line with Oriental tradition.

Another paradoxical effect of full employment has been the contraction in local employment, due probably to a reduction in redundant and part-time work, because higher wage costs require more efficient use of labour. Over the past three years the number of persons employed in the territories actually declined by 14 per cent.

ADDED DEMAND
The achievement of full employment was due entirely to the higher demand for labour in Israel. Two years after the Six Day War the number of workers commuting to Israel was less than 10,000. It doubled in 1970 and has doubled again since then. In the first quarter of 1970 work in Israel accounted for 11 per cent of the territories' aggregate employment and in the first quarter of 1972 for 25 per cent. For every three workers employed locally one was commuting to Israel.

In wage terms, work in Israel must now provide about half as much as total local employment. The 45,000 commuting workers still account for less than 5 per cent of total Israel employment, and for about 3 per cent of the country's wage bill. But in the administered territories this employment has become a dominant economic factor.

In the first years after the Six Day War most of the workers commuting to Israel were residents of Samaria and Judea, but in recent years most of the increase in this labour force came from the Gaza Strip.

The job structure of this employment has also changed. While initially commuting workers were employed almost exclusively in construction and agriculture, increasing numbers have gradually been absorbed in industry and sundry services as well. According to Labour Exchange statistics (which comprise most, though not all of the commuters), the number of workers employed in construction increased from 13,700 to 16,400 between mid-1970 and mid-1972, industrial employment advanced from 5,000 to 8,000; agricultural employment from 2,300 to 3,300, and employment in services from 1,700 to 3,200. One may guess that understatement of the actual figures has been biggest in the last two items.

80% UNSKILLED
Some 80 per cent of the workers applying to the labour exchanges are unskilled, though skilled workers may find it easier to get employment without the exchange. Also the vocational training programmes carried out in the territories must make their impact felt in the eventual employment structure in course of time.

But the structure of employment has also been changing within the territories. The number of industrial employees — though still small — increased 40 per cent since 1969. The number of construction workers must have doubled, judging by the floor area of building carried out. The building boom has contributed to industrial growth by increasing demand for locally produced materials, while another contributing factor has been orders for semi-products placed with local workshops by Israeli companies (mainly in the clothing industry).

Also significant has been the development of the territories' external trade. While imports from Jordan have gradually declined, exports to Jordan have steadily increased, resulting in a growing

Noise control act Senate votes to ban Concorde and TU-144

WASHINGTON (Reuter). — The Senate voted on Friday to ban the Anglo-French Concorde and Russian TU-144 supersonic jets from landing at U.S. airports because of their noise. It overwhelmingly approved an amendment to the Environmental Noise Control Act prohibiting all supersonic aircraft from landing at U.S. airports until their noise levels are brought within current international standards for subsonic jet planes. Senator Alan Cranston (Democrat, California), offering the amendment, said the supersonic jets should be barred from U.S. airports. "They make 10 times the noise of a 747 (jumbo jet) each time they land or take off," he said. The Senate vote of 61 to 17 does not make the ban on supersonic planes law. A joint House of Representatives and Senate conference must still resolve differences between the two versions of the Environmental Noise Control Bill. Senator Cranston, in the debate, said the amendment would provide no immediate hardship on airlines planning to use the supersonic jets since they are not scheduled to land in the U.S. until 1976. But it would serve notice to the manufacturers that they must conform to U.S. noise standards, he said.

Israel-German trade up by 14 per cent in 1971

Jerusalem Post Correspondent
BONN. — The German Society for Promoting Economic Relations with Israel opened a branch office in West Berlin on Wednesday night, its second such office in a matter of days. The first was opened in Düsseldorf on Tuesday night by Israel's Ambassador to Bonn, Edia-shiv Ben-Horin. Increasing trade ties between Israel and West Germany have made it worth while for the society, set up five and a half years ago in Frankfurt, Germany's financial capital, to expand its activities. According to official statistics here, trade between the two countries increased by 14 per cent in 1971. Mr. Ben-Horin, in a speech delivered on his behalf in Berlin Wednesday, told businessmen that after the U.S., West Germany and Great Britain were now Israel's two biggest trading partners, even though Israel imported almost three times as much as it exported. West Germany's exports to Israel, he said, amounted to 1,000m. marks, "twice as much as your exports to China, not much less than your exports to the Soviet Union and more than all your exports to Israel's neighbours put together."

Egypt's college graduates to get $25 a month

CAIRO (Reuter). — Egyptian university graduates are to receive 25 per cent salary increases — to bring their earnings up to 25 Egyptian pounds (about the same as sterling) a month, it was announced here Thursday night. Announcing the increases, Premier Aziz Sidky said this was part of a drive to raise the standard of living of many thousands of newly appointed civil servants. In a television broadcast, Dr. Sidky reviewed in detail the Government's policy of providing an abundance of consumer goods at low prices, building thousands of housing units, and providing education facilities.

It had been decided, he said, that every university should have its own hospital for the treatment of students. Every university would also have its housing quarters to ease the difficulties of undergraduates in finding suitable accommodations during the academic year. Text books would also be available at suitable prices, the Premier said. Meat, dairy products, chicken and other foodstuffs would always be available at cooperative shops and Government-owned supermarkets, he said.

Bonn's ties with Peking won't harm Taipei trade
TAIPEI (AP). — The establishment of diplomatic relations between West Germany and mainland China will not affect trade ties between Bonn and Taipei, a spokesman of the Nationalist Chinese Bureau of Foreign Trade said last week. The spokesman said Taiwan will continue to export to West Germany, which is Taiwan's biggest commercial partner in Europe. Two-way trade between Taiwan and West Germany reached $170m. last year with Taiwan registering a favourable balance of $17.7m. Taiwan exports totalled $93.8m. mostly processed farm products, and imported some $76.1m. of machinery.
